REED'S SORDID APPEAL

THE following from the St. Louis Post Dispatch punctures one of Jim Reed's favorite campaign arguments:
"In an article, published in today's Post-Dispatch, Charles G. Ross, our chief Washington correspondent, shows conclusively from the record of food-control legislation and administration during the war that Senator Reed's attacks on Secretary Hoover, charging that he fixed the price of grain and deprived the American farmers of billions of dollars, are grossly unjust and grossly misrepresent the food control situation." "Mr. Hoover did not fix the price of wheat. It was fixed by Congress in the food-control act approved Aug.
10, 1917, on a basis of not less than $2 for the 1918 crop. Subsequently it was fixed by a commission appointed by President Wilson at $2.20 a bushel. At least one-half of the commission which fixed the price at $2.20 was composed of farmers and representatives of producing interests."

"The price was fixed because it was decided by the President and Congress that the riot of grain speculation which threatened to run the price of wheat and flour to prohibitive levels would cause widespread distress and famine among the American and allied peoples and would endanger if not destroy the possibility of success in the war."

"The records show that on the 1917 crop, the price of which was not fixed, the speculative price rose to $3.25, but the farmer received an average of only $1.42 a bushel, whereas, under food control and fixed prices, the farmer received an average of 60 cents more per bushel. The price of flour, which exceeded $17 during the speculative period, was maintained by food control at a uniform price of $12.50. Without food control and a fixed price for the farmer, wheat would probably have gone to $10 a bushel, but the speculators, not the farmers, would have got the excess profits and the American people and their allies could have suffered for food and the war would probably have been lost. Not only Great Britain, but all of our allies who were fighting with us in the war, were sustained and enabled to fight by our control of food and its price."

"The farmer made more money during the food-control period than he ever did, but even if he had not we believe the American farmers would have been willing to make sacrifices to win the war. They are patriots, not war profiteers. Senator Reed's appeal to farmers to vote for him because he opposed food control, necessary to win the war, and his unfounded charge that they were deprived of billions of war profits by food control is about as sordid an appeal to greed as any campaign has developed. It is an implication of baseness on the part of the farmer which he should, and, we believe, will resent."

THE business of a city reflects the character of the merchants who dominate its business circles. If the merchants are not progressive and modern business will drift elsewhere.
If they offer the public the goods and service the buyer demands then business is always good. Mexico merchants are good business men and this is strongly reflected in the fact that Mexico is one of the leading trading centers and liveliest little bus-

LEST WE FORGET:
In Flanders fields the poppies blow Between the crosses, row on row, That mark our place; and in the sky The larks, still bravely singing, fly Scarce heard amidst the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow, Loved and were loved, and now we lie In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands we throw The torch. Be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.
—John D. McCrae.

THE active membership of the Mexico Country Club of 100 is filled.
In the future a waiting list will be established. The club is starting on its second year and is in splendid condition. It has one of the finest golf courses in this section of Missouri and is well and comfortably equipped for every purpose. Mexico should be proud of this institution.

THE "West Brick Plant," better known as the Josephine Plant, of the A. P. Green Fire Brick Co., will open shortly provided the demand for this popular company's products continues to grow as it has recently. Its opening will mean not only work for many who are unemployed but improved local business conditions.

POLITICIANS who are making predictions regarding the primaries should keep in mind the vote of the women. This remains an unknown quantity, at least, as far as lining them up as a whole. In fact the masculine vote is becoming somewhat similar if the past few elections are any indication.

EVERY now and then there is a collision in Mexico between motor cars. Fortunately, so far, there have been no serious results. However, sooner or later, there will be some one badly hurt or killed. These can be guarded against and practically eliminated by the drivers of motor cars carefully following all traffic regulations.

WE were recently informed by a spectator at a number of Reed for Senator speaking that whenever Jim Reed attacked former President Wilson his applause came from the large number of Republicans always present and when he attacked President Harding the Democrats applauded.

THE Missouri Military Academy is starting one of the most comprehensive drives for students in its history. Hardin is also ready to start along this line. Both schools begin with quite a number of former students enrolled for next fall.

HAVE you ever noticed that it is the "crook" who is always freest in calling others "thieves?"

POLITICAL campaigns are an amusing study in psychology. This is especially true of the political palaverer who has for a time enjoyed unfettered success only to meet a day when he is under fire and the end is in view. The first thing he does is to defend his record. In the past he has always been the aggressor but now the time has come when he must take the defense. When he fails to make the desired headway with his heaviest guns he resorts to questioning the motives behind everyone opposed to him and insinuating dark and sinister reasons when he has not the support of this man or that faction or this paper or that interest.

He would have you believe that his cause was the only just one. That those in the past who have been above reproach because they supported him have fallen from grace and are wallowing in mercenary mud because they no longer rally to his dogmatic demagogues. Facts are rubbish. Abe Lincoln said it many years ago and it has rung true through the decades—"You can't fool all the people all the time" or words to that effect. You may have the best vocabulary in the land, with trained adjectives that sit up and bark at command but if they are not rhythmic with reason their performance only amuses and is then forgotten. Like the bray of the lonely ass they awaken the stillness of the night to be lost amid the whisper of the summer's breeze as it kisses the clustered elm leaves. People want facts not verbal furbelows. Yes, a political campaign, certainly has an interesting psychology.

Writes From Idaho.
C. E. Dillard, of Burley, Idaho, formerly of Mexico, in writing the Ledger of his father-in-law's death, C. W. Strain, which was recently published in the Ledger, says Mr.
Strain often talked of Mexico and his many friends here especially toward the end. Mr. Dillard has a splendid position with the Nelson-Ricks Cream ery Co., at Twin Falls, and hopes to be home soon to visit his mother in this city, who has not been well for some time. His many Mexico friends will be glad to see him again.

ILLINOIS IN LIFE
INSURANCE CONTEST

State Deputy L. E. Worner, of the Modern Woodmen of America, in a special 80 day drive with his 612 assistants, sold three and a half million dollars worth of life insurance winning a contest in which were entered 36 other states and coming across the line with a margin of over $300,000.
Illinois was next highest with 969 certificates issued while Missouri had 1,333. This in spite of the fact that there are nearly twice the number of camps in Illinois and it also has twice the population. S. T. Zumalt of Charleston, Mo., was high man with 89 during the month.

Mr. Worner announced he would call in the sixteen assistant state de-

MANY CHANGES ARE SUGGESTED AT CONVENTION

Many changes are suggested by amendments to the state constitution at the Constitutional Convention in Jefferson City.

Among those submitted are an amendment to permit an industrial court, or commission, similar to the one in Kansas and a proposal to abolish the primary and return to the convention system of making party nominations.

Many are said to favor abolition of the referendum which is said to have been used by special interests and politicians to defeat laws enacted by the legislature, but the right to initiate legislation would be preserved.

A delegate primary law whereby candidates for state officers would be nominated in convention by delegates elected at a primary is approved by some of the delegates.

Other proposed changes in the constitution that have been offered include:

No law shall be enacted by the general assembly to increase any maximum rate for the service of any public utility when such rate is set in any grant or franchise, under which such utility occupies any street or highway in this state.

Counties permitted to give bounties to persons planting trees fit for timber.

To establish a county court with one judge, who shall have jurisdiction to try civil, criminal and juvenile cases.

To prevent unnaturalized citizens from voting on first papers.

A new provision guaranteeing the freedom of speech and of the press.
This was suggested by the Missouri Press Association so that the word "press" would be included in the guarantee of freedom of speech.

MANY WENT TO JEFFER- SON CITY FOR STATE MISSIONARY CONVENTION

The annual state convention of the Womans Missionary Society in Jefand Friday. Those attending from Mexico included Mrs. J. F. Griffice, Mrs. A. N. Duvall, Mrs. C. R. Gibbs, Miss Lucy Brown, Miss Zella Keaster and Miss Busholg. Hardin College was well represented at this meeting.

The county meeting of this organization will be here June 6.

Hoxsey Car Takes Dive

The Cadillac car belonging to Mrs.
T. J. Hoxsey started out on a little trip all its own Thursday and landed in a creek. Mrs. Hoxsey had parked it on the Country Club grounds when it started down grade.

It ran over the mowing machine belonging to the club damaging it badly and dodged in and out between benches and trees until it lit nose down in the creek. It is not thought the car was damaged to any great extent. No one was injured.
